INDICATED on this Associated Press map is the official itinerary for Howard Hughes' flight around the world, as announced by his headquarters in New York. An alternate route through Siberia, indicated by the dotted line, was not taken. It was undecided whether Hughes would stop at Edmonton, Alberta, after leaving Fairbanks, or continue non-stop to New York. When he left Yakutsk early this morning, two-thirds of his charted course had been covered.

Bulkeley Also Gets Support Of Non-Partisan Labor.

By The Associated Press. COLUMBUS, O., July 13.—Charles Sawyer's candidacy for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination was endorsed today by Labor's Non-Partisan League of Ohio, CIO dominated political group, which described Gov. Martin L. Davey as "the blackest mark in Ohio's political history."

Climaxing a feud with Gov. Davey, who is opposed for renomination by Sawyer, John Owens, district committee for Industrial Organization president and Ohio league chairman, declared: "The electorate must decide whether our state is to be counted on the side of honest and constructive administration of public affairs or on the side of reaction, political intrigue and corruption."

Bulkeley Also Endorsed

Robert J. Bulkeley, Cleveland Democrat, who is seeking renomination for U. S. senator in opposition to former Gov. George White of Marietta, was endorsed as a man "who has withstood the assault of the combined forces of reaction and has held to the enlightened course taken by President Roosevelt."

Last week, Bulkeley received Mr. Roosevelt's tacit endorsement.

The league announced its opposition to the renomination of five Ohio congressmen, representative at-large Harold G. Mosier of Cleveland, James G. Polk of Highland county, John F. Hunter of Toledo, Arthur Lammack of Columbus and Dudley A. White of Norwalk. White is a Republican, the others Democrats.

For other state offices, recommendations were made for the renomination of Secretary of State

EARLE ASSAILS JUDGE IN GRAFT PROCEEDING

Declares Republican Jurist Ruled By Republicans

By The Associated Press. HARRISBURG, Pa., July 13.—Gov. George H. Earle, denouncing the courts which ordered a grand jury investigation of his administration, asserted today Judge Paul N. Schaeffer, in charge of the proceedings, "has acted in a most disgraceful manner."

The governor said in a statement that Schaeffer's "entire conduct has been characterized by vacillation, weakness, fear of criticism of the press and complete domination of his actions by the Republican judges of Dauphin county (Harrisburg)."

Earle's attack upon the jurist followed an earlier blast at the Pennsylvania supreme court which he termed Republican and "politically minded."

Judge Schaeffer was named by the supreme court to take over the case after the Dauphin county judges, to whom the original request for a grand jury probe was made, asked to be relieved of the responsibility. Their request followed a radio speech in which Gov. Earle said they were "politically minded."

Fliers Make Fairbanks Next Goal After Brief Halt At Yakutsk In Siberia, Last Stop In Soviet Russia

By The Associated Press. YAKUTSK, Siberia, July 13.—Howard Hughes took off for Fairbanks, Alaska, at 9:01 tonight, 7:01 a. m. Eastern Standard Time, on the fifth leg of his attempt to set a new record for round-the-world flight.

The American airman and his four companions had remained at Yakutsk only two hours 53 minutes after completing their 2,177-mile hop from Omsk western Siberia.

Hughes planned to make Yakutsk his last stop in Soviet Russian territory. He plotted a course of 2,456 miles to Fairbanks, across the northeastern tip of Siberia and the Bering sea.

Far Ahead Of Post's Mark

However, preparations for an emergency landing have been made at Anadyrsk in case of necessity.

Leaving Yakutsk just 60 hours 41 minutes after their takeoff from New York with two-thirds of the flight completed, Hughes and his companions were far ahead of the time of the late Wiley Post, who girdled the globe alone in seven days 18 hours 49 minutes in 1933.

(Post flew a different course across Siberia, but his takeoff from Khabarovsk, approximately the same distance from New York as Yakutsk, came 113 hours 58 minutes after his New York takeoff. He had stopped at Khabarovsk only two hours 13 minutes.

Anadyrsk is a little more than 1,400 miles northeast of Yakutsk. From there the direct route to Fairbanks would take Hughes close to the narrowest part of the Bering strait, where only 60 miles of water separates Soviet and American territory. The district between Yakutsk and Bering strait, however, is one of the wildest parts of Siberia.)

Fog, Rain Reported

Reports of good weather were received from points as far as the Bering strait, but fog and rain were reported on the Alaskan side.

(Hughes flight headquarters on the world's fair grounds, New York, announced receipt of a message sent from the plane at 8:22 a. m., giving its position as 64 north latitude, 137.05 east longitude, over the Cherski mountains, or about 300 miles east of Yakutsk.

(The message, picked up and relayed by the United States army signal corps station at Seattle, Wash., said the plane was flying at an altitude of 6,300 feet.)

Hughes had landed his big monoplane at Yakutsk at 6:08 p. m., 4:05 a. m., Easter Standard time, ending the fourth leg of his flight.

The weary aviator immediately snatched a brief rest, afterwards announcing he would take off again, "in two or three hours."

At Omsk, Hughes was greeted warmly by representatives of the regional Soviet executive committee and newspapermen. In a brief interview he said it had rained heavily between Kurgan and Omsk. He flew at an altitude of more than 9,000 feet.

(The dash here from Omsk was

COMMON PLEAS COURT TO END TERM FRIDAY

Special To The Review. LISBON, July 13.—Columbiana county common pleas court will be suspended until the September term after the close of the session Friday night. Judge W. F. Lones will be in court certain days each week to hear motions and to make entries in cases.

He will not be in court next week, however, or the week of July 25 when he will attend the State and American Bar association meetings in Cleveland.

BARBARA DROPS CRIMINAL ACTION

Titled Husband Freed After Case's Surprising End

By The Associated Press. LONDON, July 13.—The former Barbara Hutton dropped a criminal charge against her titled Danish husband today with indications that a separation or divorce proceeding would be the next step in her turbulent married life.

The surprise ending of what one of the lawyers called "a most unhappy case" came as her second husband, Count Court Haugwitz Reventlow, reappeared in the shabby Bow st. police court dock and prepared to defend himself against the charge that he had threatened the American-born Woolworth heiress.

No Reconciliation Seen

Solicitors, announcing an agreement under which the 32-year-old count promised to stay away from Countess Barbara's London mansion and not communicate with her, indicated no reconciliation was in prospect.

The countess' counsel indicated to the judge that the mysterious "gentleman in London," whom the count was accused of threatening to shoot, did not come into her life until after she had quarreled with her husband.

The countess' attorney, Sir Patrick Hastings, hinted at a shift of the marital dispute to Danish courts in telling the magistrate that any separation proceedings would be subject to Danish law.

The sudden ending of the case disappointed a crowd jamming the

Woman Leader Also To Talk At Party Rally Here

Congressman Lawrence E. Imhoff of St. Clairsville and Mrs. Marie Krim of Martins Ferry, 15th congressional district woman Democratic leader, will be the speakers at a rally of the Eastern Ohio Democratic club in the club rooms in the Ingram building in the Diamond Thursday night.

More than 500 Democratic men and women are expected to attend, invitations having been extended to members of the Wellsville, Salineville, Lisbon, Salem, East Palestine and Leetonia clubs.

District and county candidates at the Aug. 9 primary election also will be introduced. Ferguson Kind, president of the club, will preside at the meeting.

Refreshments will be served by a committee consisting of Clem Dawson, Arch Mullen, J. J. Pugh, Samuel Chertoff, Ralph Mullen, Angelo Ferello, Corliss Myers, Ray Jewell, Dane Gratton and Ralph McGonigal.

Opponent Attempts To Hit Metzenbaum For Bitter Blow At Governor

By The Associated Press. FREMONT, O., July 13.—A forcibly averted fist-swinging attack on James Metzenbaum, aspirant to the lieutenant governorship, punctuated Ohio's bitter Democratic primary campaign today.

"Hardly had the oath of office been administered to the present governor in his first term before there came to Columbus a great throng of shakedown men," Metzenbaum told last night's Democratic rally and ox roast at the Sandusky county fairgrounds.

Harry J. Halper, Metzenbaum's primary opponent and state housing commission chairman from Akron, arose, dashed across the platform and put his hands on the speaker, who broke away.

'Great Insult,' Davey Declares

As Clarence Knisely, state treasurer, and Attorney W. J. Mean, program chairman and former county prosecutor, jumped between the rivals, Halper tried several times to swing at Metzenbaum before he was persuaded to go back to his seat. Metzenbaum, counsel this year for a special senate committee which inquired into the Davey administrator, quickly concluded his address.

Gov. Martin L. Davey, who spoke afterward, told the Democrats this was "the greatest insult ever made to a governor of the state of Ohio. This is the most unusual meeting I have attended in 25 years of public life. It never occurred to me, when I accepted the invitation, that the governor of Ohio would be insulted by a little whippersnapper like him."

For 15 minutes, Davey berated Metzenbaum.

Halper, when he reached the speakers' platform, said "I'm sorry I did it, but I did not think it proper for a candidate to come on the platform and smear the highest officials in the state."

Said Charles Sawyer, Davey's opponent for the gubernatorial nomination, when he addressed the rally:

"Sawyer Addresses Rally

"If I am elected governor, I will be a different kind of governor than Martin Davey. If you approve of Gov. Davey's record for the last four years, you ought to nominate him. But if you want a change, I'll be glad to show you what I can do."

Davey, in his address, retorted "unfortunately that will never happen. Mr. Sawyer has told nobody what he's for or what he's against, except he's against Davey. Mr. Sawyer would have you buy a pig in a poke and take a chance."

Metzenbaum, former state senator from Cleveland, began his address by saying "I was told that it would hardly be advisable to speak bluntly or plainly, but it has been my impression that the Democratic party ought to keep itself pure from within and not be corrected by Republicans from outside."

These were not the only inharmonious notes sounded at the rally, for former Gov. George White indicated he considered President Roosevelt's recent commendation of White's opponent for the Democratic senatorial nomination, Sen. Robert J. Bulkeley, in poor taste.

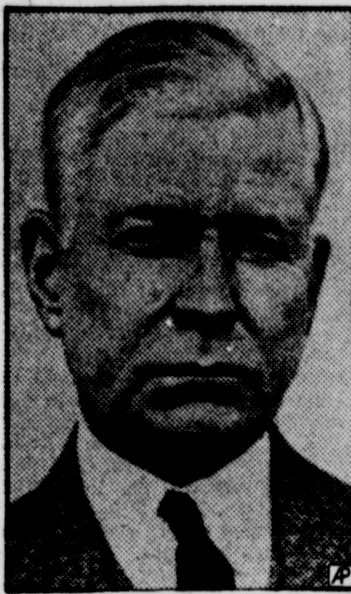

White Raps Roosevelt's Action

White said Mr. Roosevelt "may have a right at the proper time and place to endorse or speak kindly of Sen. Bulkeley x x x but when upon my invitation, as chairman of the northwest territory celebration commission, the President addresses a meeting in my home town, which was non-partisan, patriotic and civic, and uses that opportunity to single out his yes-man, Sen. Bulkeley, from a platform on which I presided as chairman—I leave it to the discriminating people of Ohio as to whether he exercised good taste."

As White alluded to President Roosevelt's address last Friday at Marietta's celebration of the territory's founding, Bulkeley told a party of the crowd that he was

PRESIDENT RIDES TOWARD NEVADA

Workers' Petition Asks Him To Seek Third Term

By The Associated Press. ABOARD PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S TRAIN ENROUTE TO SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—Bearing a petition from a steelworkers' club urging him to seek a third presidential term, President Roosevelt stopped early today at Salt Lake City, where his daughter and son-in-law boarded his special train, then headed westward again to Nevada.

On board when the train left Salt Lake City at 6:45 a. m., eastern standard time after a 10-minute checkup were Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Dall Boettiger and her husband, John Boettiger, Seattle publisher, who came by plane last night to meet the train.

4,000 Urge Third Term

The presidential special left Colorado last night. At Pueblo, Colo., yesterday the President received without comment a petition from the Colorado Fuel and Iron Workers club requesting his candidacy in 1940.

The petition, representing 4,000 Pueblo steelworkers, declared "we are fearful for the welfare of the United States as well as for the peace of the world if one less courageous, determined and intelligent were elected in 1940 to guide the destiny of this country."

The President did not make an appearance before the small crowd that gathered in the cool down in the Salt Lake City station today.

At Ogden, 35 miles north, Sen. Pat McCarran of Nevada, seeking renomination, was due to come aboard. Later in the day, Albert Hilliard, opposing McCarran, planned to join the presidential party at Carlin, Nev.

Nevada Policy Veiled

McCarran opposed the President's court reorganization plan and other administration measures. Hilliard is the son of Judge Benjamin C. Hilliard of the Colorado supreme court, a candidate for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Colorado.

What step, if any, the President would take in the Nevada situation was in doubt. The President will have an opportunity to talk it over with Chairman George L. Swartz of the state Democratic

TEMPERATURES CLIMB DESPITE HINT OF RAIN

Overcast skies and the threat of rain at noon today failed to halt the mercury's climb as the district sweltered through the eighth day of the extended July heat wave.

Earlier predictions of a mid-week respite were just so many words as thermometers registered 84 and threatened to go higher during the afternoon. A slight breeze helped to offset the humidity which has been running about 96 percent of the saturation point almost every day for the last week.

Tuesday's maximum was 87, registered late in the afternoon. Since last Tuesday the mercury has not failed to register 83 or higher during any one day.

THOMAS LEADS IN OKLAHOMA'S NEW DEAL TEST

Roosevelt Choice Increases Margin In Senate Fight; Murray Lags In Third

By The Associated Press. OKLAHOMA CITY, July 13.—Sen. Elmer Thomas, Oklahoma's silver-haired new deal favorite, widened his commanding lead today over two primary opponents in the first ballot-box test of President Roosevelt's political speaking tour.

Former Gov. W. H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, frowned upon by the President as "nationally known as a Republican," was running third for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Sen. Thomas, seeking renomination for a third term, was acclaimed "my old friend" by the President, in his speech here Saturday. Mr. Roosevelt made only passing mention of E. W. Marland, new deal governor running third to Thomas.

He offered no back-pat at all to Rep. Gomer Smith, apparent runner-up in the senate race. Smith voted against the President's reorganization bill and the administration farm act.

The unofficial count in 2,487 precincts of the state's 3,522 precincts gave:

Thoms 158,379.
Smith 118,321
Marland 73,544
Leon C. Phillips of Okemah, a new deal legislator, pulled ahead of Murray and W. S. Key, former state WPA administrator, in the gubernatorial contest.

Murray, no new dealer, introduced Al M. London, Republican nominee for a speech here in the 1936 presidential campaign.

The count in 2,551 precincts gave:

Phillips 119,803
Key 111,607
Murray 99,388

Two other aspirants, former Gov. Jack Walton and Ira Finley, president of the Veterans of Industry of America, were hopelessly behind.

Eight Democratic congressmen running for renomination held snug leads.

On the Republican side, where voting was light in contrast to the heavy flood of Democratic ballots, Harry O. Glasser of Enid was leading three rivals for the senate nomination and Ross Ritzley, former state senator of Guymon, paced a field of three for the gubernatorial nomination.

Both Ritzley and Glasser were endorsed by a statewide Republican "grassroots" convention.

Many Records Broken

He estimated, however, that $500,000,000 must be voted by congress to carry relief expenditures from March 1 to next July 1. It appropriated funds for only the first eight months of the fiscal year.

Salient estimates in the revised budget broke many records, including:

Public debt—to rise from current $37,200,000,000 to all-time high of $40,500,000,000 by June 30, 1939.

Expenditures—to increase $1,319,000,000 above last year's figure to reach peacetime total of $9,055,157,600.

Receipts—to decrease $1,241,000,000 from last year's total to $5,000,270,000.

Deficit—to increase $2,560,000,000 from last year to a gross of $4,044,887,600. Excluding debt retirement it would be $3,984,887,600. This was exceeded in peacetime only in 1936, when the soldiers' bonus was paid.

Borrowing—between $2,100,000,000 and $2,805,000,000 to be borrowed from the public this year, compared with a net decrease of $377,000,000.

SCHOOLBOYS TESTIFY IN SOLLY HART TRIAL

Tell Of Seeing Car At Spot Where Marino Was Shot

By The Associated Press. YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 13.—Two schoolboys who saw a car parked in the shadows near the spot where Roy "Happy" Marino, Youngstown racketeer, was last seen alive by friends last September, were witnesses today in the first degree murder trial of Solly Hart, Cleveland gangster.

Thomas Thomas and Frank Sohalby testified they saw the car parked in front of the Thomas home. Suspicious actions of the car's two occupants prompted the boys to jot down the license number.

The state contends the car, bearing license tags issued to Thomas Galati, was the car in which Marino was killed. Galati and John O'Boyle have been indicted for the murder but have not been caught.

Hart is the third to face charges in the slaying. John Anthoulls of Steubenville and Herb Ross of Cleveland have been convicted and face terms in prison.

The state may close its case late today.

Cheers, Jeers 3,000 March As Weirton Protests NLRB Trial

By The Associated Press. STEUBENVILLE, O., July 13.—A laughing, jeering throng of approximately 3,000 persons milled in front of the federal building today, flaunting banners attacking the national labor board and shouting protests against the expulsion of a Weirton Steel Co., attorney from the board's 11-month-long hearing against the company.

A mass parade from the steel mill town of Weirton to Steubenville was abandoned following the transfer of the hearing to Pittsburgh last night, but 300 steelworkers came across the Ohio river in buses and automobiles to join several hundred townspeople.

Crowd Cheers Armstrong

Although visibly disappointed by the shift of the hearing, which one leader said "ruined" the planned demonstration, the crowd cheered Clyde Armstrong, company attorney barred from the hearing by Examiner E. Grandison Smith, and shouted lustily as Smith was hanged in effigy from a hotel window.

Hoisted to the shoulders of two brawny steel workers on the steps of a hotel facing the federal building, Armstrong cried:

"We never would have been able to carry on over there (waving a hand at the federal building) if it

Roosevelt Predicts Deficit Of 4 Billion This Year

By The Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 13.—The government stepped up its spending pace today to the record peacetime average of $24,900,000 a day ordered by President Roosevelt. This is $3,613,000 a day more than last year's average.

The President revised his January budget estimates for the fiscal year which began July 1 in order to account for the emergency relief and public works programs. He calculated the treasury would collect only $5 for every $9 it spent, piling up a deficit of about $4,000,000,000.

For relief alone, he said, $2,135,000,000 would be needed—enough to support 3,000,000 persons on WPA rolls until next spring.

Mr. Roosevelt indicated that business would improve enough to taper off the relief load in March.

ROSS KIDNAP-SLAYER NEARS DEATH IN CHAIR

Seadund Scheduled To Die Minute After Midnight

By The Associated Press. CHICAGO, July 13.—John Henry Seadund counted off the last fleeting 24 hours of his life today.

Society is taking his life in the electric chair at a minute after midnight for the kidnaping of Charles S. Ross.

Seadund, 27, years old, has been resigned to his fate for many weeks.

U. S. Marshal W. H. McDonnell set the execution for 12:01 a. m., Central Standard Time tomorrow. Witnesses will include Martin Ward, assistant federal district attorney who prosecuted Seadund; four other citizens, reporters for three news services, three doctors, the Cook county sheriff and jail warden and eight assistants.

Born in Ironton, Minn., July 27, 1910, Seadund was a woodsman and mechanic until he went outside the law.

He was arrested in Los Angeles in January, confessed and pleaded guilty to kidnaping Ross, 72, reformed Chicago greeting card manufacturer, for $50,000 ransom Sept. 25, 1937. He said he shot and killed his kidnaping accomplice, James Atwood Gray, 19, once of Providence, Ky., at the kidnaping cave hideout near Spooner, Wis.

STOCK MARKET RISES IN NEW BUYING WAVE

By The Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 13.—A fresh buying wave lifted much of the stock market to new high prices since last autumn today.

Strength of scrap steel prices at Pittsburgh—which many analysts consider an important barometer in that basic industry—and more hopeful reports of the automobile outlook, prompted large scale buying of steel, motor and miscellaneous industrial shares.

Pronounced revival of the mid-year bull movement yesterday afternoon attracted heavy blocks at the opening, with many buyings of 1,000 to more than 9,000 shares changing hands.

Advances of $1 to more than $3 a share were common, embracing such issues as U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Case, Texas Corp., Greyhound, Westinghouse Electric and Allied Chemical. Eastman got up as much as $5.

FEDERAL AGENTS CHECK CONFESSION IN MATTSON KIDNAP-SLAYING

By The Associated Press. TACOMA, Wash., July 13.—Federal bureau of investigation agents joined state Patrol Chief William Cole today in checking a maze of contradictory statements, oral and written, of Frank Olson, 32, that he kidnaped and killed 10-year-old Charles Mattson Dec. 27, 1936.

Cole, who announced Olson's confession last night, said the prisoner's description tallied closely with that of the man sought for the abduction but that many portions of his story did not check with known facts of the case. He refused to outline them.

Olson was arrested late Friday near Ritzville in eastern Washington and after 36 hours questioning by Sheriff Melvin Oestreich, State Patrolman Jack Crooks and Sheriff's Deputy Joe Schafer, was brought to Tacoma. He is irrational about a third of the time, Cole said.

Officers indicated an effort would be made today to have Muriel and William Mattson, sister and brother of the slain boy, who were in the Mattson home at the time of the kidnaping, identify Olson's picture. The children are at a summer camp.

Olson first said four men were involved in the kidnaping. Later he said only three and finally cut the number to two. The second man he named was arrested and released last night when Olson again contradicted his story and said that man was not involved.

Cole quoted Olson as saying he broke into the Mattson house, stole the boy and dashed down the precipitous cliff behind the home and reached the beach in pitch darkness. A rowboat was moored there and he rowed with the boy for several hours across Commencement bay to Dash Point, where he had parked his car, the confession said. He then drove to Everett.

Cole said Olson denied he put the body where it was found 15 days later in a newly fallen snow

County C.E. Plans Convention

THE Columbiana County Christian Endeavor Union outlined plans for the annual convention which will be held in the Christian and Presbyterian churches of Hanoverton Thursday, Sept. 1, at a meeting of the executive committee in the Hanoverton Christian church Tuesday night.

The theme for the convention will be "In His Steps." Rev. George Southwell of Cleveland, head of the Leper Mission of America, will give an illustrated lecture on his work in the leper fields at the night session. Rev. Ray Kingman of Kenyon, former county adviser and pastor of the St. Jacob's Reformed church of near Lisbon, will speak at the afternoon session on "Christian Endeavor In The Total Program Of The Church."

The convention will open at 9:30 a. m. with a quiet hour service in charge of Ivan Immell of Hanoverton. A picnic dinner will be served at noon and a dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m.

Plans also were made by the committee for a county picnic the latter part of July at Thompson park, to which all young peoples' groups in the county will be invited.

Frederick Bright of East Liverpool, president of the county union, presided at the executive committee session. Mrs. Gertrude Thompson of Hanoverton acted as secretary. Following the business session the committee was entertained by the Hanoverton society in the home of Rev. R. C. Reikert on the Salem-Lisbon rd.

The next business session will be held Tuesday, Aug. 2, at the Guilford state park near Lisbon, where a picnic dinner will be served.

H. G. Means, Walter Emerson, William H. Vordrey, Maxon King, Ray Birch, Mr. Wigger, Mr. Nagel and Mr. Hilbert.

Boys' work and youth service — Mr. Means, Mr. Vordrey, Howard Lindell, Mr. Grosshans, Mr. Nagel, J. W. Hepplewhite, E. P. Wright and William C. Cooper.

Crippled children — Mr. Emerson, Dr. Roy Costello, Dr. Charles H. Bailey, Mr. Lang, Dr. Kinsey, Mr. Dawson, Mr. Froesch and W. H. Locke Anderson.

International service — Mr. Froesch, Mr. Buzzard, Dr. Kinsey, Leon Rubin, Carl Hellyer, Dean Wilhelm and Mr. Wilson.

In Mr. Nagel's questionnaire, members at each table pooled answers and competed against each of the others in a friendly, informal, scoreless "contest." The president's cabinet, world and national figures, denominations of several Ohio colleges, flying times of Howard Hughes and Charles Lindbergh in the Paris-New York hop and largest cities and capitals figured in the quiz.

Harold Barth read the secretary's annual report at the start of the meeting.

DAVEY VETOES BANK DEPOSIT RELIEF BILL

Declares Unclaimed Money 'Belongs To Others'

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., July 13 — Officials in several cities, especially Cleveland and Toledo, checked off their list of possible relief fund sources today unclaimed deposits in closed banks.

Gov. Martin L. Davey vetoed the bank deposit measure late yesterday, completing action on the last relief program item passed by special legislative session July 2.

Sponsors of the bill said it would have made several hundred thousand dollars available for relief in the two cities, although estimates of possible yields varied widely.

Asserting that "this money belongs to other people," the governor in his veto message said he intended to propose that the present law, which places such money in counties' general funds, be amended to provide unclaimed deposits among other depositors.

Other relief program measures were signed Monday.

DAVEY VETOES FUNDS FOR GUILFORD LAKE

A proposal to spend $5,000 for improvements to Guilford lake in Columbiana county met death in Columbus Tuesday when Gov. Martin L. Davey vetoed a $645,000 "pork barrel" measure.

The bill would have provided funds for 13 other projects including $10,000 for development of land at the headwaters of Mill Creek in Mahoning county.

"I am in sympathy with most of the projects but the general revenue fund should not be subjected to the strain of a half million dollars additional load," the governor said in his veto message.

There is little to spare for the next few months, but there will be a modest surplus in the last half of December and not until then."

FIREMEN SET PLANS FOR NEWELL JUBILEE

Plans for the 30th anniversary jubilee in Newell July 20-23 were completed as the Newell volunteer fire department met Tuesday with Harry Lytton, fire chief, in charge. Proceeds from the affair, first of its kind in the village, will be used to buy new equipment for the company.

Free entertainment nightly on the grounds at Fifth and Washington sts., booths, concessions, refreshment stands and other attractions have been planned by the committee. Emmet Bailey, chairman, William Watson, secretary-treasurer, Chief Lytton, Earl Cox and Clyde Fultz.

Invitations have been mailed to 100 tri-state fire companies to participate in the street parade the night of July 23.

HEART EDUCATION PUSHED PHILADELPHIA—The Philadelphia Heart association has started a campaign to educate the public regarding the dangers of heart disease as a result of a 100 percent increase in fatalities from cardiac ailments in Philadelphia since 1920. One hundred meetings will be held throughout the city during the summer.

HANCOCK NAMES AUGUST PRIMARY VOTING OFFICERS

79 G. O. P., 117 Democratic Workers Approved To Act In County Precincts

Special To The Review.
NEW CUMBERLAND, July 13.—Hancock county court Tuesday approved names of 117 Democratic and 79 Republican poll officers in the county for the school bond levy election of July 26 and the primary election Aug. 2.

The lists of officers were submitted to the court Tuesday by Paul S. Cullen of New Cumberland, Democratic county chairman, and R. M. Brown of New Cumberland, Republican county chairman.

The Republicans named 27 officers in Grant district, 14 in Clay and 35 in Butler. The Democrats named 39 in Grant, 21 in Clay and 57 in Butler. Those named will act as commissioners and clerks of the recording and counting boards in the 24 county precincts.

There were some protests in the Democratic lists when the court found that some originally named were not registered or were Republicans. The Democratic list was submitted Monday, but was corrected Tuesday.

Elections officers in Grant and Clay districts follow:

'Nevertheless' Is Roosevelt's Handiest Word

—By DAVID LAWRENCE—

WASHINGTON, July 13. — President Roosevelt has put the little word "nevertheless" on the political map for future use by the "head of the Democratic party." It will come in handy if and when Mr. Roosevelt decides to run for a third term.

The argument made last week to help Sen. Barkley of Kentucky win a third term in the senate would have to be changed very little to make it fit a Franklin Roosevelt concept of why the electorate should give third terms. Thus slightly paraphrased, Mr. Roosevelt can say of himself, as he did of Sen. Barkley:

"I am not interested in any shape, manner or form in personal ambition. You have the absolute right to vote for any candidate in accordance with the dictates of your conscience. No outside source ought to drag on you.

"Nevertheless, I have a clear right to tell you certain facts. The job of the presidency is a very exacting one and it includes a study of many, many aspects of national problems in which a man's experience in office naturally counts a great deal. It would take a new man many, many years to match the national knowledge, the experience and familiarity with the affairs of the nation which comes to one who has been, as I have been, so intimately related to these problems for the last eight years."

It is true the third term tradition has been against third term presidents, but Mr. Roosevelt, after reciting all the traditions, can say: "Nevertheless, experience is the important thing, and if third terms are desirable for members of congress, why are they undesirable for presidents?"

To all this it may again be objected that, if experience in office makes a better president, then Herbert Hoover, who went through the worst years of the depression, might have been given another chance. To such an argument, Mr. Roosevelt might answer:

"It is true that other presidents with four and even eight years of experience have not been able to persuade the people that a new man would take a long time to get familiar with the details of the presidential job.

"NEVERTHELESS, these are exceptional times and one who has been through the mill, as I have been, has had a new set of problems to meet. The problems of other presidents were different. As I said in my speech at Covington, Kentucky, on July 8, 1938—"at this stage of world and domestic issues, leadership is important to the people of the whole country as well as to the people of each state."

It is easy to see how handy the word "nevertheless" is going to be in Mr. Roosevelt's political vocabulary. He has, of course, applied it to explain away the huge debt. He dozo. Many candidates have been mentioned from various geographical areas of the country.

"Nevertheless," Mr. Roosevelt might say, "there's one man who logically deserves the position. He has served well and ably on the senate lobby committee, of which he has been chairman. The vacancy whereby he became chairman occurred when I elevated to the supreme bench Sen. Hugo Black of Alabama. The lobby committee, from which attacks on a free press can so readily be directed, is eminently the proper place to look for a candidate for the highest court in the land. And besides it would take a new justice of the Supreme Court many, many years to match the knowledge and experience in the affairs of our nation and the 'lib' realout nation and the 'liberal outlook' gained on the lobby committee by that son of Indiana of whom the whole nation is proud, Sherman Minton."

There are other uses for the word "nevertheless" but Mr. Roosevelt has no doubt thought of them, including the possibility that some people will remind him of the long experience in public affairs of Senators George of Georgia, Ellison Smith of South Carolina and Millard Tydings of Maryland.

"Nevertheless," Mr. Roosevelt might say, "I oyhettdjsnu might say, 'they just do not suit me, and that's the human side of the political balance sheet.'"

STATE BEGINS PAVING THIRD ST. IN CHESTER

The maintenance department of the West Virginia state road commission today began work on repaving Third st., in Chester from Carolina ave., to Virginia ave.

The 555-foot stretch of road, which was formerly part of route 30, will receive an eight-inch slag base and a one-inch black-top surface. The surface is now brick and cinders. The average width of the road will be 27 feet.

The intersection at Virginia ave., will be completely paved. Car tracks in the road will be covered.

Robert Roberson of the state road commission, supervisor of the work, estimated it would be finished within 10 days unless bad weather interfered. Eight to 12 men, employees of the road commission, are on the work. It is thought that the state will use Third st., as a cut-off on route 30 from the new overhead bridge until Virginia ave., the present route, is repaired. No official word of this has been received, however.

A Political 'Situation'

SITUATIONS are the essence of politics. Without situations to intrigue the fancy of observers, politics would have no more drawing power than a third rate play—which also would be rated according to the number and quality of the situations contained in it.

No one can complain about the quality of the situation which has been built up around President Roosevelt in the last few days. It is as plain as anything can be that if Mr. Roosevelt were planning to run for a third term in 1940 this would be a good time to begin campaigning.

It is plain that the trip he is taking has turned out so far to be a series of personal triumphs from which Mr. Roosevelt is drawing renewed confidence. No one can be blind to the fact that nothing but the President's personality is holding the divided Democratic party into a semblance of unity at the moment. He is the personification of politics.

Yet, no one can say that Mr. Roosevelt is running for a third term. All they can say is that if he were running for a third term this is the way he would do it. It's a real situation.

On The Way Back

SUNDAY'S baseball game at Columbian park between the local Riverview Florists and the Lisbon Merchants for the first championship of the county league proved conclusively that this city still is baseball-minded and that efforts to return the sport to a high plane here have been highly successful.

A crowd estimated at 3,000 lined the playing field, an interest made all the more remarkable by the fact that seating accommodations are practically nonexistent.

Taking the first-half season as a whole, fans have been offered an interesting show. Performances have not always been flawless, but even the major leaguers have their erring moments. As an amateur league, the county circuit need take a back seat to none.

The city's more ardent devotees of the sport are pushing a drive for a better field and more adequate facilities for spectators. If the interest continues to increase and the teams are able to count on the support of the fans, they may become realities next year.

At the same time it is the duty of the teams to hold this interest by doing everything in their power to speed up the game. Unnecessary delays in starting and between innings as well as too frequent wrangling on umpires' decisions tend to make the fans disgruntled.

Repeated bickering between the teams Sunday aroused a good deal of dissatisfaction. Fans like to see their favorites fight for their rights and inasmuch as the title was at stake some of the die-hard spirit was excusable but those responsible should take a warning that too much may be more than the fans will tolerate.

Give followers of the game plenty of action and a snappy game and they'll excuse occasional miscues or mental lapses.

Whose Civil Liberties?

ONE of the heartening proofs that civil liberties are taken seriously in the United States is the fact that Mayor Hague of Jersey City has been dodging brickbats from both the left and right for his high handed methods of red routing.

It has been evident, of course, that some of the leftists doing the most yelling weren't interested in free speech, except for themselves, but that has not deterred many persons smart enough to see through the ruse from making the same complaint.

It so happens that the other day NLRB handed down a decision that an employer had violated the Wagner act because he distributed among his employees a copy of a speech by Rep. Clare E. Hoffman of Michigan. Rep. Hoffman is a sharp critic of the Committee for Industrial Organization and NLRB.

The board's decision is based on the contention that it is a crime to attempt to influence his employees, even though in so doing he may be using nothing more direct than the words of a United States congressman. The case must be carried to the supreme court; unless the board's ruling is set aside, it will have trespassed openly on civil liberties.

In the meantime, what is that sudden stillness? It is the red hots who believe in free speech for themselves not defending the right of a hapless employer of labor to circulate copies of a congressman's free speech among his employees.

By The Side Of The Road

OHIO is making a welcome, if belated, start in serving residents who like to load a lunch into the family car and go touring amid their state's scenic beauties.

First of the new "pocket parks" in this part of the state is being opened this week on Robertsville rd., east of East Canton. Others will follow. These are shady spots in which have been installed tables, water supply, stoves and other conveniences where small groups may prepare and serve meals in comfort.

Some other states did this years ago but until now a motorist might drive 100 miles in Ohio without finding a place where the family could eat lunch without trespassing on private property or accepting the hospitality of a filling station.

Built as NYA projects these tiny parks will help Ohio residents enjoy one of the simple pleasures of outdoor family life. There should be many of them along all principal highways.

Today And Tomorrow

Many Britishers Find Selves Impoverished As Nation Lives In Wa Economy In Time Of Peace

By WALTER LIPPMANN

PARIS, July 13—It is extremely difficult to obtain reliable information on what is really costing the peoples of Europe to prepare for the war that they are preparing themselves to fight. But now and then there is an incident which makes clearer than statistics could make it, what it means to live in a world that is dominated by the need to prepare for war. Such an incident has just occurred in England.

Some time ago a corps of experts, known as "The Committee Against Malnutrition," was told to study the problem of providing the British people with enough of the right kind of food. They found that a considerable number of the people of England were poorly fed and that what they lacked in their diet was enough dairy produce, eggs, fresh fruit and vegetables. The committee found at the same time that the government was spending much money on subsidies to increase the production of wheat and sugar in the British isles.

Now in a rational world the sensible thing for England to do would be to buy more wheat and sugar abroad and to use the money, the land, the capital, and the labor saved at home to produce dairy products, eggs, fruit and vegetables. Wheat and sugar can be grown better elsewhere than in England. They can be carried in ships halfway around the world. But dairy products and the rest are perishable. They need to be produced near the big cities if they are not to be too expensive to be within the reach of the poor. So if Britain were able to do the rational thing, it would import more wheat and sugar and grow more dairy products at home.

BUT Britain dare not do the rational thing. She must prepare for an attack on her shipping by submarine and airplane. She must prepare therefore to feed herself somehow, badly to be sure but enough to keep the people alive. Wheat and sugar are bulky commodities. They require many ships. And since Britain must face the fact that there will not be enough ships, she must grow wheat and sugar at home and let the British poor do without dairy products, eggs, fruits and fresh vegetables.

Though Britain could afford to feed her people adequately in time of peace, she dare not do it because to do that would make her vulnerable in time of war. So on grounds of military strategy alone, the British are compelled to keep a part of their population undernourished.

If such a thing as this must happen in Great Britain where life is relatively normal, we need have no doubt that it is typical of the action of governments all over the continent. It is said, for example, that in Poland, which is in a desperately difficult economic position, the government deliberately refuses to drain the swamps on the Russian border and deliberately refrains from improving the roads on the German border. Though Polish peasants need land and roads, they do not get them because it is necessary to make the frontiers impassable to Russian or German tanks, artillery and lorries. It is an indubitable fact that Italy has been debasing her bread because the crop of wheat is short. Instead of buying wheat abroad with the foreign exchange that goes to buy raw materials for armaments.

IN fact it may be said, I think, that the real cost of preparing for war is not the actual money spent on weapons of war. Those costs would still be tolerable if they could be paid for out of a tax on an otherwise normal and rational economic system. The real cost of armaments is the necessity of putting the whole economic system on a war footing, of acting now in time of peace as if the nations were already besieged and at war. The British have to grow wheat and sugar in the British isles, though it is very expensive, though they must undernourish part of their people, because they must live now as if submarines and airplanes were attacking their ships.

The effect of living in a war economy in time of peace is to impoverish the people and the governments and thus to aggravate the domestic social problem everywhere and to inflame the international tension at all the points of conflict. The preparation for war makes it increasingly difficult for all the governments to solve their own social problems at home. Therefore, it becomes increasingly difficult for them to make the concessions and arrangements abroad which might appease the accumulating tension.

We are witnessing what is in effect a prolonged and total mobilization of all the people of Europe and the time has come, or at least, it is close at hand when every human interest will be governed by the necessities of the mobilization. The point has already been passed when the plans of the military men are determined by the political policies of statesmen. We are at a point now where the ultimate decisions of statesmen, in all important economic and social and financial affairs, are subject to the judgments of the military commanders.

The Irrepressible Rebel

By JAMES A. MILLS

WHAT—many ask the question—has become of Mahatma Gandhi? What happened to his non-resistance campaign? Why doesn't he fast or get put into jail any more? This is a good time to find the answers.

From a cot in a small room in the house of a friend on Bombay's seashore Mahatma Gandhi has assured me he still is able to fight for freedom. I went with him to London in 1931 to attend the round table conference. In 1932, I saw him off to Poona jail, and I was first to greet him upon his release in 1933. Hearing he was ill, I went to his bedside for an interview.

"I am ready to die when my Maker calls, but I hope He will spare me until I finish my life work, which is to make India free," declared the irrepressible rebel.

HIS friends declare that if he can live five more years his dream will come true. He dominates the lives, thoughts and destinies of 360,000,000 Indians.

His influence has grown so enormous since the new Indian constitution was introduced a year ago that he is being mentioned as the next governor general.

"As you see," Gandhi told me, "I am still able to spin, to receive visitors, to grant interviews, to work for the emancipation of the 'Untouchables' (social outcasts), to keep up my correspondence, to toil for village improvement and to carry out my usual duties, the same as ever."

The little Hindu mystic chuckled. "I can still walk 10 miles a day, at my 69 years," he went on. "I sleep well and eat well. In spite of all my hard work, I have gained several pounds in weight. I now weigh 106, but would like to weigh about 115. I still cling to my diet of goat's milk, ground nuts, honey, dates and figs. I find this suits me better than meat or vegetables. It is true I tire more easily than before, but then isn't that usual to a man on the threshold of three score and ten?"

WHEN I explained to the Indian leader that while reporting the war in China I had heard reports that he was dangerously ill, and I had therefore speeded up my arrival in India, he roared with laughter and said, "So you wanted to get here in time to be a pal to me? Ha, ha! Well, you are slightly premature. Don't release my obituary just yet. Hold your presses until I give the signal!"

As India's toothless, half-naked whisp of a man listed the words, "I hope to live to see India independent," Miss Madeline Slade, his British disciple, who has been a devoted servant to the Mahatma for 10 years, looked up at her idol with tear suffused, reverent eyes, and exclaimed, "But you will live to see that day, Bapoji (father). God will see to that!"

I ventured to interject, "When do you expect India's freedom will come, Mahatma?" "Within the next few years," replied the little brown figure, his eyes dancing with optimism. "Nothing can stop it now."

Gandhi can still work 12 or 14 hours a day. He rises at four o'clock, spends an hour in meditation and prayer, then takes a long walk with Miss Slade and other disciples.

Get Out Of Bed!

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

CAUSE of death—confinement in bed. Number of deaths from being in bed—10. Patients—all over 65 years of age.

These figures come from the Journal of the American Medical Association, in a report by L. B. Laplace, M. D., and J. T. Nicholson, M. D., of Philadelphia. The title of their report was:

"Prolonged recumbency as a contributory cause of death in elderly persons."

Their conclusion, however, was that in 10 cases being in bed was the real cause. The fact that elderly persons are likely to die if they stay in bed too long—usually several months—is an old medical story.

The Philadelphia physicians in these 10 cases sought a more exact explanation. They found that long lying down, because it curtails a person's movements, resulted in congestion of blood in the capillaries.

That, in turn, decreased circulation in the large blood vessels. As a result, the blood failed to carry enough oxygen to the tissues and this caused permanent damage to the capillaries. After this, circulation of the blood began to fail, and death was the result.

The only two areas in the world where alligators (as distinguished from crocodiles) are found today are in the Lower Yangtze in China (Alligator sinensis) and Mississippi and Florida where the larger Mississippi alligator (Mississippiensis) occurs.

Ohio Anecdotes

CELEBRATION in 1930 of the first use of wagons on the Oregon trail was due largely to the efforts of Ohio born Ezra Meeker.

Meeker, born in Butler county, in 1830, journeyed with his wife and infant son to Oregon in an old-drawn covered wagon, in 1852. He lived there 53 years, and at the age of 70, resolved to spend the rest of his life popularizing the study of pioneer history.

Jan. 29, 1906 he traveled east over the trail in a covered wagon drawn by oxen, attracting wide attention. In 1910 he repeated the performance. However, his next trip was by an automobile in 1913. At the age of 93, in 1924, he followed the course of the Oregon trail for 1300 miles by airplane.

Many markers to his memory have been erected along the trail.

Labor Secretary Perkins Also Seems To Detect A Slight Partisan Odor About NLRB's Activity

By PAUL MALLON

DISGUST with the national labor relations board is not confined to the A. F. of L. and businessmen. Many an ardent new deal official is barely concealing slight nausea at the way the board is being run, including no less a labor advocate than—believe it or not—Madame Labor Secretary Perkins.

Miss Perkins is being quoted by her best friends—who no doubt are translating her usually perfect English into their own vernacular—as saying the board is "a bunch of nuts."

Her specific complaints are these: (1) The board is unfair in many of its decisions; (2) it picks its cases for publicity purposes; (3) it lets some cases go for months and jumps to other cases where it can help CIO and make the front page, even though the Wagner act is not involved (for instance mediation cases).

For official family reasons these unorthodox administration views may never be stated officially, but Miss Perkins could make out a case, if called upon. Most notorious recent developments along this line was the board's delay of the west coast longshoremen's case until the day after Lundberg's Master Mates and Pilots, in conjunction with the Firemen and Teamsters had voted to go with A. F. of L.

THE trouble will certainly come to the surface when board member Donald Wakefield Smith comes up for reappointment next month. He is a Guffey appointee who will be ardently opposed by Miss Perkins and others on the ground that he rarely approves a board decision unless the CIO has an organization interest in it.

The treasury thinkers are supposed to be thinking up a new undistributed earnings tax scheme—another "third basket," with spikes in it.

The embryo idea is to base the tax of surpluses upon the number of stockholders in a corporation, thus taxing closely held corporations more than larger ones. That is, a company which has a million dollars surplus for reserves and a million stockholders would pay a moderate undistributed earnings rate, while a similar million dollar corporation with four stockholders would pay many times as much. A sliding scale would be worked out on this basis.

It is virtually the same old basket that congress knocked a hole in last session, repainted, but the hole is still there.

As things stand now, there is not a chance that congress would enact such a proposal. Even some of those legislators who stood for the third basket last session have come to acknowledge, privately now, their error.

The lesson learned from the last tussle over the question is that when you hit the operating company, instead of holding company, you discriminate unjustly against a very large group of bona fide operating companies which comprise the industrial backbone of the country. A majority of congressmen have come to the conclusion it cannot be done that way.

THE British have lived up to their reputations as the toughest, shrewdest diplomatic traders in the world at inside negotiations for an Anglo-American trade agreement. The unadvertised disruption of dickering is being called a "temporary impasse," but there will be many more before an agreement is reached. State department negotiators are trying, for once, not to lose a conference with the British.

A contribution to political frankness is being made by a midwestern Democratic congressman in his campaign for reelection. While most legislators deny the charge that they work for special interests, this one is glorifying his work in their behalf.

He has inserted in The Congressional Record letters from the secretary of a sugar workers conference thanking him for supporting the sugar bill; from a CIO official thanking him for supporting the oil workers union; from the brewers for the import tax on foreign beer; from the post-office clerks, the veterans, and on and on.

Without fanfare, the state department is going after foreign propagandists. An unnoticed law requires the department to register all such, leaving the department to decide who is a propagandist. Interpreted literally, it would require registrations of all

Joe Gives Ethel The Ha-Ha When She Feels Him Out On Honor Duel; After All This Is Brooklyn, He Says

By DAMON RUNYON

Mr. Joe Turp writes from Brooklyn:

DEAR SIR: The other night I ses to my wife Ethel, honey I feel like a movie tonight. She ses why Joe that is swell. What is there to see? I ses well there is a new one over on Flatbush avenue and she ses what is it about? I ses I hear it is a picture about the old south.

Ethel ses o I love a picture about the old south because of the duel. I ses what duel? She ses why Joe the duel between the fellow who speaks the lady's name in the saloon and the one who is in love with her. I like the way they are always running up and down the stairs too because that way you can get a good look at their dresses.

I ses whose dresses? I ses do you mean the fellows dresses? She ses of course not silly. I mean the dresses of the lady whose name the fellow speaks in the saloon and causes the duel. Joe do you know a lady in the south had to always be running up and down the stairs? I should think they would have been tired to death all the time.

I ses well I guess they did not have elevators in those days and Ethel ses yes but they were not even allowed to walk. They always had to be running up and down the stairs and their dresses were always long. It is a wonder they did not fall down sometimes and break their necks.

I ses well Ethel you get your hat on and we'll go see this picture anyway and she ses I hope the duel is with pistols. Sometimes it is with swords but I like pistols better. Joe if you was going to fight a duel would you have pistols or swords? I ses Ethel I would not have either one because I am not going to fight any duel. I ses the very last thing on earth I would do is fight a duel and she ses not even if a fellow spoke my name in a saloon?

I SES what saloon? She ses any saloon. I ses no not I even then. I ses maybe if a fellow spoke your name in a saloon in a way I did not like I would take a bat at him but I would not fight him no duel. She ses yes but Joe a duel is so romantic. You go out under some trees early in the morning in a buggy with a faithful old colored man driving you and shoot the fellow who spoke my name. He is a better shot than you but he lets you shoot him down like a dog because he is a gentleman.

I ses look Ethel in the first place I could not find a buggy in Brooklyn for love nor money and in the second place I would not shoot anybody down like a dog even if they let me and I do not think they would let me. I ses there are no gentlemen in this part of town. I ses all I would do if somebody spoke your name in a saloon in a way I did not like would be to take a pop at them but nobody is going to get me in a duel.

Ethel then ses his name is Jeff. I ses whose name? I ses do you mean the fellow who gets shot down like a dog or does she mean the fellow who drives the buggy? She ses no the faithful colored man who drives you. I ses the buggy to the duel. He stands by the buggy looking awfully worried while you are shooting the fellow down like a dog. Then they carry his body home to the old plantation and all the colored people come out and sing soft and low and sad.

I ses do you mean Jeff's body? She ses of course not. I mean the fellows body that you shot down like a dog. I ses where are you all this time? She ses why I am home in the old mansion running up and down the stairs and waiting for you to come back from the duel. I am very proud and maybe I slap my subvunt.

I SES what is a subvunt? Ethel ses why a subvunt is somebody who waits on you like a maid. I ses Ethel I guess you mean a servant. I ses you spell it s-e-r-v-a-n-t. She ses o no Joe not in the pictures of the old south. It is subvunt and I do not care how you spell it. I ses well in Brooklyn you spell it s-e-r-v-a-n-t and I would like to see somebody slap one of them around here.

Ethel ses well that is just the trouble with Brooklyn. It is not romantic like the old south. There are not even any magnolia trees around here. I ses what if there was? I ses they would not do you any good. I ses you know very well you are liable to get a touch of hay fever if you go near a tree and she ses maybe I could stand a little hay fever for a little romance.

I ses anyway lets go see this picture. I ses maybe it does not have a duel or a lady running up and down the stairs and Ethel ses o yes it does Joe. I ses well if you have seen it already why not say so and we will go see something else and she ses I did not see it Joe but you ses it is a picture of the old south and if it does not have a duel or a lady running up and down the stairs it is a dud and we will make them give us our money back. That is the only way they can have a picture of the old south, huh.

Yours truly,

JOE TURP.

A Sadder, Wiser Man

By BRUCE BARTON

(From a speech printed in The Congressional Record) (Rep. Barton, succeeded his advertising executive, pronounced it if elected he would try to repeal at least one law every day congress was in session.)

EVERY new law is an experiment; every repeal is a foregone success. The historian Buckle emphasized this distinction in his History of Civilization. Progress, he said, had come not so much from the enactment of new laws as by the repeal of earlier laws.

But how much harder it is to repeal one old law than to enact a thousand new ones. In my brief experience here I have seen a hundred laws sweep through the house between dinner time and 11 p. m. Most of them were unimportant, of course so-called private bills, and all had been carefully considered in committee, but they were new laws just the same. Merely they rolled along, while our one act of repeal was the work and worry of many weeks.

I admit that I had hoped for some cooperation from the members of the majority in my program for getting rid of bad and useless laws. I know now that this was too big a hope. To err is human, but to admit error is superhuman. The President of the United States, when he was as fresh and inexperienced in the presidency as I still am in congress, made this glowing promise: If a fair administrative trial . . . does not

SCHOOL REOPENS TUESDAY, SEPT. 6 AT WELLSVILLE

Board Fills Two Vacancies
On Faculty; Examination
Ordered For Janitors

The Wellsville public schools will reopen for the fall term Tuesday, Sept. 6, the board of education decided at its meeting in the high school building Tuesday night.

Misses Nova Clendenning and Nancy Ross were appointed to vacancies in the elementary school faculty. Miss Clendenning is a graduate of Muskingum college at New Concord while Miss Ross has had two years' training at Kent State university. Both are graduates of Wellsville High school. The room assignments will be made by Superintendent of Schools S. E. Daw.

Janitor Tests Ordered
The board requested the Wellsville civil service commission to conduct an examination for janitors to fill vacancies caused by the mandatory retirement of George Hamilton and Albert Deemer, caretakers at the Garfield and McKinley schools, respectively. Both will be retired Aug. 31, having reached the 70-year age limit fixed by the state school employees retirement act.

The civil service commission, which conducts examinations for police and fire department members, will submit to the board the names of the four applicants receiving the highest grades, from which the two janitors will be elected by the board. The retiring janitors will be eligible for state pension.

James L. MacDonald, city solicitor, was elected to the Carnegie library board of trustees to fill out the unexpired term of J. L. Ault, who resigned because of his removal to Cleveland. Mr. Ault's term has approximately four years to run.

Granted Use Of School

The Wellsville Glad-dahlia club was granted the use of the MacDonald school for the August glad-dahlia and the September dahlia shows. The first floor corridors of the school building will be used for the exhibition, which will be given Saturday and Sunday to avoid interference with regular school routine.

Reports on improvements and repairs being made to the school property during the summer also were received. Representatives of the Frederick Lighting Service Co., of Cuyahoga Falls will come here this week to adjust the lights and paint the poles for the lighting system at Nicholson field.

For Thursday, July 14
RATHER conflicting planetary directions are predominant on this day. While there may be definite benefit from diligence, industry and close application to dependable matters in hand, yet there may be lures of a rather speculative nature that will have surprising and devastating angles. Fraud or duplicity seem imminent, particularly in connection with writings, publishing or untried finance. The old rut and beaten path are safer.

Those whose birthday it is may look for success and some measure of recognition if they will be content with the old order, applying merit to labor, application and attention to details and systematic, rather than flights into untied fields or speculative enterprises. Writings, publishing and correspondence are in jeopardy. Definite change, adventure or romance might prove devastating.
A child born on this day, although having definite talents, ingenuity, skill and versatility, may have certain mental quirks, temperamental proclivities or eccentricities which might prove detrimental to its success unless such tokens of "genius" be bent in the proper direction.

Summer Not Dangerous For Baby As Once Believed, Physician Holds

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE old dread that mothers had of the baby's second summer is fast disappearing. There is no reason for it any more. Tradition had it that the second summer is very critical and that the baby must be sick some time in that period. But the situation has changed, and, as a matter of statistics, the summer months show less sickness for those under five years of age than any other part of the year.

None of us needs as much food in the summer, and this includes the baby. "Less to eat and more to drink in the summer time," is the slogan of a wise old practitioner of my acquaintance.

The summer is a fine time to let the skin get acquainted with the air. Take all the baby's clothes off and let it roll around in the good air and sunshine on these warm days.

Fruit juices are important foods and should be added liberally to the diet of any baby during the first and second summer. Any fruit is all right, but oranges and tomato juice have the best supply of Vitamin C. A half cup to a cup of tomato juice or the juice of a large orange every day is the proper ration. Sweet oranges to which no sugar has been added should be used. Before the orange is cut it should be dipped into boiling water and wiped with a clean cloth so that no germs get into the juice when it is squeezed.

Try Cool Water

The best preventive of overheating is cool water. Two or even three baths—without soap, of course—are not too much in hot weather. The stimulating effect of the cool bath is enhanced if it is thrown with some force on the body. So water from a hose or sprinkled on from a watering can is most refreshing.
In its second summer the baby begins to show some will power and selection about its food. It is more liable to eat irregularly. From this it becomes sick. Some one says, "Yes, naturally, it is sick, this is its second summer." It is the wrong food, or food eaten at irregular intervals and not the second summer that is at fault.

In fact, with all the improvements of modern life, the young mother should welcome rather than dread the second summer.

The Sunlit Road

By TOM T. JONES

IN Carrollton, county seat of Carroll county, stands an old brick house, which for many years was occupied by Maj. Daniel McCook, one of the famous "Fighting McCooks" of the Civil War. The house, built in 1830, stands in the public square and is marked by a bronze tablet placed by the Carrollton tent. Daughters of United Veterans of the Civil War.

The inscription on the tablet reads: "Fighting McCook home, built 1830 by Maj. Daniel McCook, Sr. Birthplace of four youngest of his nine sons, eight of whom, with their father, served in the Civil War. All were commissioned officers except one. They were Surgeon Latimer A. Gen. George W. Gen. Robert L. Gen. Alexander McDowell, Gen. Daniel J. Gen. Edwin S. Private Charles M. and Col. John J. McCook."

Maj. Daniel McCook died from the effects of wounds July 21, 1863, while a Union force was attempting to prevent the Confederate raid, Gen. John J. Morgan, from crossing the Ohio river at Buffington's island. His wife and mother of his sons, Martha Latimer McCook, died in Lisbon Nov. 10, 1879, when she was 77. She was buried in Spring Grove cemetery in Cincinnati.

Three of the sons were born near Canonsburg, Pa., two near Lisbon and the other four in Carrollton. Latimer, the first, was a Civil War surgeon and died Aug. 23, 1869 from the effects of disabilities incurred in the service. George W., the next, was a former law partner of Edwin M. Stanton, secretary of war under Lincoln in Steubenville. He was one of the first four brigadier generals appointed from Ohio. He passed away in Steubenville in 1877. The third was John James, a graduate of the U. S. naval academy, who passed away while a midshipman on the "Delaware" in 1842.

Robert L. and Alexander were born near Lisbon. The former studied law with Stanton & McCook and practiced in Cincinnati. He was killed by rebel guerrillas Nov. 6, 1862. Alexander M. graduated from West Point and was in the military service until a few years before his death.

Daniel Jr. was a lawyer in Leavenworth when the war started. He was killed while leading an attack on Kennesaw mountain July 21, 1864. Edward S., who served with the 31st Illinois regiment, was shot and killed when he was acting governor of Dakota on Sept. 11, 1863. Charles M. was killed in the battle of Bull Run. John J., the last, was a colonel in the sixth Ohio regiment and after the war practiced in New York City for many years.

LOVE ON THE RANGE

BY NELSON C. FITE

The Story So Far
Trouble is brewing on the Rafter T. Quick-fire "Blitz" Ankrum, under the name of Abe Streeter, takes a job on the ranch to help lovely Lee Trone. He has a run-in with the range boss, Moss Haddock, and meets Ratchford, the sheriff, and Claydell, a neighboring rancher. Colonel Struthers and his daughter Betty arrive for a visit. Ankrum recognizes Struthers as Kelton Dreen, cousin of the man he killed to avenge his father's death.

CHAPTER 11

Licking Flames

ANKRUM threw away his cigar and yawned. "You boys got to the dance in Paso Pinto?" "Might—if they've good lik-ker."

His partner granted, "I don't like that town. Too crowded and too partial to the duds. I get in a fight every time I get within gunshot of the place!"

Ratchford's lips moved faintly, sardonically, in the gloom. One of the punchers said, "Either of you two gents wants sit in on a game of stud?"

Ankrum shook his head. Ratchford said, "Not me, fella. I've played cards with you before."

The two men got up and tramped inside. A moment later Ankrum heard the scraping of a match. A flicker of light came through the window; grew steady and brightened. He heard the men dragging chairs and, a little later, the flap of a door.

"Fuddy-duddy never wired any of these buildings but the ranch-house ain't stable."

"Yeah. Where does he get his juice?" Ankrum asked.

"He sent to El Paso for a generator and some other doobies couple years back. Said he might's well keep up to date. I reckon it was Lee put the idea in his head. He'd just about cut his neck off for that girl an' she for him." Ratchford sighed. "They're pretty close, them two."

"Seen Trone yet?"

"No," the sheriff answered. "Reckon it's about time I sauntered over to the house an' had my talk. I been hopin' them friends of his would drift off to bed. I'd prefer to have the Ol' Man alone."

"You'll have a long wait if you're waitin' for them to go to bed. City folks sit up all night. They go to bed with the owls," Ankrum said. "Do you think there's anythin' in this rustling talk?"

Ratchford fingered his chin. "Don't seem to be any other out-lets losin' critters. They might be keepin' it to themselves, of course. Again, there might really be some stealin' going on an' Trone be the only gent that's gettin' hit." With a grunt he rose to his feet, peered down at Ankrum. "You heard what that puncher said."

The sound of voices came to Ankrum from the card players. Now that Ratchford was standing, radiance from the lamp illumined his face. Weariness was written there; in the creases of the brows, in the stare of his eyes. His gaze was maniacally brooding. "You see, it all ties up with that damn gab that's going round 'bout me bein' out to break the Rafter T."

"Well, there would seem to be some substance for the rumor," Ankrum murmured gently.

The sheriff stiffened. "Yeah—that's why I'd like to get my hands around the neck of that gent that's backin' it. Because my ol' man an' Trone burnt gunpowder years ago folks are willin' to swallow any kind of hog-wash that tends to picture me lookin' for revenge. Damn 'em! I believe in lettin' sleepin' dogs sleep!"

Sense of Evil
Ankrum watched the sheriff strike out across the yard to where lights revealed the uncurtained windows of the ranchhouse. As he watched Ratchford's broad back, sharp and black against those lights, conflicting thoughts struggled to adjust themselves upon his mind.

There was much about this sheriff he did not understand. He told himself. A vital, magnetic figure, there was yet something about him, some latent force, some indefinable sense of evil, that made a man hesitate to trust him far or to put faith in his words.

Just why this was, Ankrum could not say. But the feeling lingered. He could not shake it. Some way, he and magnetic as he was, Tom Ratchford measure short in Ankrum's estimation.

He wondered if Ratchford had been trying to talk him into something; if Ratchford in springing Banter's name had hoped to take him by surprise. How much did this sheriff suspect? How much did he know? Did he really connect Abe Streeter with the Arizona smelter, Bluer Ankrum? Or was he—

"Shucks," Ankrum muttered. "Looks like I'm tryin' to develop a case of nerves."

Then he chuckled softly as he recalled the sheriff's statement that Banter was lined up against the Trones. That would mean that Banter either was in the country now or would shortly be coming in. It had been well over a year since his and Banter's trails had crossed. In old Nogales it had happened. He remembered the circumstances well. He had taken malicious pleasure that night in up-setting a little deal the Mexican had been striving to bring off. An amusing case of "biter-bit" he'd made it, leaving Banter a seething with fury, swearing revenge by every saint in the calendar.

With another chuckle Ankrum rose to his feet, lounged against the shadowed wall while he fished the makings from his pocket and rolled a cigarette. He would have a final smoke, and then go hunt his bunk. His left hand rolled the quirely while his right sought the band about his hat, procured a match and struck it. The bursting flame illumined his face and brought out the sharp angles of it.

Even as the match burst into flame, another flame licked out from the shadows beneath an ancient pepper tree 30 yards away. The cigarette slipped from Ankrum's mouth, so close had been the miss. A report smashed loudly on the stillness, flattened out across the yard, beat up against the buildings. And on its heels another, even as Ankrum whirled, his hand streaking to the waistband of his trousers. A blur of motion stirred the shadows beneath the foliage; something dropped heavily in the dust.

With gun held ready in his hand Ankrum sprinted forward. He jerked to a stop before the tree as a vague white figure snapped up from the ground to confront him. It was the figure of a girl.

"Duck Out of This!"

"Who are you?"

"Abe Streeter, ma'am. Was that you doing that shooting?"

"No—yes! No! No, of course not!"

Despite the agitation in her voice Ankrum realized that this was not Lee Trone. Therefore, he reasoned it must be the golden-haired creature pressing against Betty Struthers. What was she doing here? What was that thing in her hand? Ankrum leaned closer and saw that it was a pistol; he saw also that with her other hand the girl was pressing something to her breast—something that looked like folded papers.

"What are you doing here?" he whispered. "What have you got in your hands?"

PALESTINE TO OPEN

STADIUM FENCE BIDS

Second Set Of Figures To Be Examined Saturday

Special To The Review.

EAST PALESTINE, July 13. — Bids will be opened Saturday by the local board of education for construction of a fence around the stadium being built at the high school athletic field.

An earlier call for bids on the fence work was rejected by the board, although the contract for erection of the stadium was granted to the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co. on a bid of $7135.

The contract for flood lights has been let to the Woods Electric Co. of this city. The cost of this project is less than $3,000 and could be issued by the board without asking for bids.

Plans have been launched by the board for construction of a $46,000 auditorium to be built as an addition to the new $200,000 Senior high school building.

Myron F. Goodwin, Youngstown architect, is representing the board in an effort to gain a PWA grant for the project.

More Quack-Quack

OF ALL the times Mrs. Quacko had had a quack-quack chat with Mrs. Quacker she had never seen her so impressed.

"It takes about a week to travel from one side of the ocean to the other some one said around the pond she quacked."

"Mrs. Quacker," Mrs. Quacko said, "just think of that! Why, quack-quack, we can go back and forth to see each other in a few minutes."

"Imagine all the minutes and minutes that make up a week."

"But we're not going to travel across it," quacked Mrs. Quacko. "As I told you we're going to be close to the sea, but not on it. We are going to see how some of the creatures live who choose their homes along the coast."

"Just as you went around and visited the countryside and saw the animals last year?" asked Mrs. Quacker.

Mrs. Quacko nodded. "Well, my dear, I must be going. I just waddled down to tell you I hoped you would have a pleasant summer, and that I would come to see you as soon as we returned."

"Yes, that was kind of you," quacked Mrs. Quacker.

Mrs. Quacko was puzzled. She had expected to impress Mrs. Quacker, to make her a little envious. She had meant to show-off. "Don't you think my feathers look a little droopy?" she asked. "Do you think I'm looking quite myself? Well, maybe I'll get along without a change of scene. Yes, do come and see me when you get back. I'll still be here."

"Mrs. Quacker!" exclaimed Mrs. Quacko. "I have an idea. Wait! I'll be right back. I just want to say something to Willy Nilly!"

Marry-Go-Round

By MARY ROWLAND

See America—Via Europe

IF you feel that you must go abroad, this is probably the very best year to go. For, just about the time you get out of sight of land, you will begin to discover America.

A country is like a husband or a wife, you have to take a little vacation from it in order to appreciate it and to know how much you love it.

So many summer tourists are going abroad this year in search of culture (America is so crude and new, you know), to visit famous museums, to view great paintings and perhaps put the finishing touches on a foreign language. Oh well, they will discover a lot of things.

They will discover that Europe is an armed camp, where fear is rampant, suspicion fills the very air and hatred rides high; that every word they speak must be carefully chosen, and that if they don't like anything, they had better not mention it until they return to the good old U. S. A., where they can say anything they please, any time, anywhere, without fear of finding themselves in a detention camp.

They will discover that culture is where you look for it, whether in Paris, France, or Paris, Kentucky; and that a goodly proportion of the world's greatest works of art are hanging right here in our own art galleries. As for the finishing touches, they'll find those on every hand—palms up.

Oh yes, they'll get a lot of thrills! But the biggest thrill of all will be the sight of the Statue of Liberty, when their returning ship steams into the harbor, back home! Their eyes will fill, their spines will tingle and they'll almost be tempted to drop down on their knees and thank Providence for the crudeness and newness that greets them. For the sight of towering skyscrapers; for the promise of free speech and ice-cream sodas and good plumbing and plenty of porcelain bath-tubs; for American shoes and watermelon and corn-on-the-cob and the best dentistry in the world; for American jokes and American moving pictures and the best newspapers and the best department stores on earth; for corn-bread and doughnuts and smartly-dressed women and efficient elevator service and air-conditioned trains and theaters.

Most of all, the women will thank heaven for the sight of good-looking, clean-lined, clean-shaven, broad-shouldered, well-groomed, hard-working American men. And every returned wanderer will be grateful for real Democracy and the privilege of calling his soul his own!

Oh yes, the best way to discover America is by taking a trip abroad; and the best way to see America, is by taking a look at the rest of the world! And this is a banner year for seeing America, via Europe!

One Infield Error Isn't All

PHILADELPHIA—Dennis Walker, 12, had some Fourth of July torpedoes in his hip pocket. He was playing in a baseball game when the batter drove out a hot liner toward him. The ball struck him in the hip. Dennis was treated at a hospital for severe hip burns.

"OH, JOHN, IT'S OURS!"

"—and just think—we may never have to move again—and nobody can raise our rent!"

Did YOU know that in today's home you get 25% to 40% MORE REAL VALUE for your money than in 1926?

HAVE you been yearning to own your own home? Are you tired of the uncertainty of renting? Of accumulating nothing but rent receipts? Of never knowing from one year to the next just where you will be living, who your friends will be, where your children will go to school? Have you been seriously wondering whether NOW is the right time to build or buy?

If you've been hesitating, the chances are you don't know that the biggest bargain anybody's money can buy today is a new home.

New materials are partly responsible—lower cost, more economically applied materials that simply did not exist in 1926. But the increased values in the modern home are broader than that, as evidenced by the fact that . . .

Your house will be better designed. Great strides have been made by the better architects and builders of the country in designing homes to eliminate waste space and to make them more attractive.

Your house will be better built. It must pass Federal Housing Administration inspection for quality specifications, sound principles of construction.

Your house will be more comfortable. Insulation, improved heating plants, air conditioning have given the modern house comfort that was never dreamed of ten years ago.

Your house will be more economical. Many materials have been developed which have eliminated items of expensive upkeep that were looked upon as a necessary evil of home ownership just a few years ago.

Your house will be more efficient. It will have better kitchen planning, with new and improved labor-saving devices, built-in fixtures that remove the word drudgery from housekeeping, and better room arrangement that eliminates many of the errors of construction that meant added burdens to the housewife.

Your house will be safer. Fire-resistant insulation and building materials, healthier atmospheric conditions; all help minimize the hazards of the past . . . and with all this—

Your house will be far easier to finance. There never was a time when it was so easy to FINANCE a home. Long-term, low-cost Federal Housing Administration financing makes it possible to pay for a new home out of a modest-size income, with low monthly payments like rent, on a plan that gives you full ownership of the house in 20-25 years—and at a cost that in many cases is as much as 85% less than former financing costs.

Any one of the companies listed at the right, any architect, builder, realtor, lumber or building materials dealer, will be glad to furnish complete information and literature on America's No. 1 value—a new home.

THE OLD WAY TO FINANCE

Here's what used to happen under the old method of financing: Let's say you borrowed $5,000. Of course, you probably had to renew the loan every 2 or 3 years, pay high financing charges and be greatly inconvenienced all the way around. But let's forget those things. The important point is that you didn't reduce the principal at all, but let the debt run. In 25 years you paid about $6,875.00 in interest, and after all that cash outlay (over a period of a quarter century), you still owed the $5,000. In short, it cost you $11,875.

THE NEW WAY TO FINANCE

Here's what happens today under the new and modern methods of financing. Let's say you borrow $5,000. You reduce the principal $50 every three months. In 25 years you pay only $3,472.25 in interest at 5% (maybe even less). And in 25 years your debt is free and clear, and you owe nothing. It has cost you $8,472.25, or an actual saving over the old method of $3,402.75.

Social Affairs

ANNOUNCEMENT HAS BEEN MADE of the marriage of Miss Phyllis Brennehan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Brennehan of Georgetown, Pa., to Mr. John Mackall, son of Mrs. Dora Mackall, also of Georgetown. The ceremony took place April 9 in the parsonage of the First Presbyterian church in Wellsburg, W. Va., with Rev. W. V. Best officiating.

The bride wore a costume of blue crepe with white accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Mackall are residing with the former's mother. The bridegroom is employed with the Pittsburgh Crucible Steel company in Midland.

Miss Jeanette Dawson, councilor of All-American council 257, Daughters of America, conducted the business session held Tuesday night in the Sons of Veterans hall, East Sixth st. Mrs. Sara Hall and Mrs. May Mort were present with past councilor pins at this time.

Honoring the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Leslie Taigenhorst, an indoor picnic was featured, the honor guest receiving gifts and a handkerchief shower. Covers were arranged for 35 and the table was decorated in national colors with red tapers and a large birthday cake with lighted candles. The social committee included Mrs. Violet Slevin and Mrs. Woomer. Special guests were Mrs. Caroline Spangler of Chester; Mrs. Phyllis Payne of Wellsburg; Mr. Rose Woomer and Mrs. Evelyn Schertinger.

Tuesday, July 19, the business session will be followed by a party social.

Grand Slam club members were entertained by Mrs. Homer Campbell in Pleasant Heights Tuesday night when two tables of bridge were in play. Trophies were awarded Mrs. Russell Smith, Mrs. Mary Warner and Miss Dorothy McCoy. A guest prize was presented Mrs. Georgia Applegate.

Mrs. Smith was taken into the club as a new member. Luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Applegate and Mrs. Laura Swinton.

July 26, the club will meet with Mrs. Warner, first ave., East End.

Mrs. W. Granville Cox entertained members of the Theta Alpha Bible society of the Second United Presbyterian church Tuesday night at her home in Ohio ave. with a dinner served on the lawn. The long table, at which covers were arranged for 12, was decorated with an underwater bouquet of pansies. Mrs. Cox was aided by Mrs. W. R. Moore and Miss Sara Cowling.

Mrs. W. T. Thomas was a special guest. This closed the meetings for the summer, the fall to open Sept. 27, the place to be announced later.

Friendship Lodge 14, Star of Bethlehem, enjoyed a six o'clock picnic dinner Tuesday at Thompson park. Covers were arranged for 40 members and friends. The social committee included Mrs. Laura McMillen, Mrs. Louise Ross, Mrs. Annie Smith, Mrs. Ann Watkins, and Mrs. Mary Bowyer.

A program of sports was in charge of Mrs. Patty Adams and Mrs. Bowyer. Trophies were awarded Mrs. Laura Arrowsmith, Mrs. Clara Sayre, Mrs. Sarah Thurn, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Sarah Manypenny, Mrs. Watkins and Mrs. Bowyer.

The next business session will be held July 19. Plans were made for an all-day outing at the summer home of Mrs. Martha Wakefield at Craig Beach July 27.

Mrs. Bruce Henry received members of the Mizpah class of the First Baptist church Tuesday night at her home in Smithfield st. Devotional services were conducted by Miss Merle Guinn, after which Mrs. Henry led in prayer. Miss Dolores

SEW A "TOPNOTCH SPORT-STER" PATTERN 4815 By ANNE ADAMS

A sports frock to bring a happy song to your lips for the mere wearing of it proves you're keenly alert to new style trends! That pattern 4815 is easy to make up, goes without saying. Our picture (showing that there are only four major pieces) tells the story! The high waistline is very up-to-the-minute, and there is unbeatable chic in the side closing with its smart buttons. Remember too, that the back may be cut out if you like to sunbathe when you play tennis. And you may leave off collar, cap sleeves and pocket if you prefer the simplest applied in this new way, for an exciting and fashionable contrast!

Pattern 4815 is available in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 3 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric and 3/4 yards ric-rac.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

Do you want to be a style leader in your set? Then write at once for the popular Anne Adams pattern book. A Tip To Jelly-Makers!
RASPBERRIES ARE CHEAP NOW!
AND WITH CERTO YOU CAN MAKE A WHOLE BATCH OF JAM OR JELLY IN JUST 15 MINUTES AFTER THE FRUIT IS PREPARED!
Half Again More Glasses, Too ... When You Use Certo!
YES, half again more glasses—when you make jam and jelly with Certo! For you boil the fruit juice only 1/2 minute for jellies—one minute for jams. None of the juice has a chance to boil away, so you average 11 glasses instead of 7! And with Certo it takes you just 15 minutes, after your fruit is prepared, to make, pour and paraffin a whole batch of jam or jelly!
SO MUCH BETTER FLAVOR! That short boil saves fruit flavor, too—gives you better tasting jams and jellies! The delicious natural flavor stays right in the fruit, instead of boiling off in steam. And there is no "boiled-down" taste!
NO FEAR OF FAILURE! Certo makes all fruits jell perfectly—even strawberries and pineapple. No more uncertainty about jam and jelly making!

PITTSBURGH TAKES FIRST PLACE WITH 13TH STRAIGHT TRIUMPH

Yankees Edge Up On Indians In Junior Loop

Gehrig, DiMaggio Each Hit Homers In Twin Victory

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Back home in first place!

That has a comfortable sound for any ball club, especially one which hasn't had a taste of world series glory for more than a decade.

That's just the position of the Pittsburgh Pirates today. They finished up their road chores in Chicago yesterday by pounding out a 14 to 6 victory over the hapless Cubs. It was their 13th straight triumph—the longest streak since 1922 when they also won 13—and it put them in the lead by a hair's breadth or two.

Starting with today they face the Brooklyn Dodgers, who knock out their hated rivals, the New York Giants, out of the lead Tuesday by beating them 13-5.

Cleveland Stopped By Nats
The American League came close to having a shift in leadership as well, for the Cleveland Indians took a 9-8 setback at Washington in the first game of their eastern tour while the fast-stepping New York Yankees knocked off the St. Louis Browns twice, 7-3 and 10-5.

The Tribe managed to hold the top by a half-game margin.

Brooklyn, incidentally, explored the stratospheric heights of sixth place for the first time since the middle of May. The Cincinnati Reds beat out St. Louis 6-5 in the other National League game and dropped the Cards to seventh.

The remaining major league contest saw the Chicago White Sox scoring five runs on homers by Mike Kreevich and Joe Kuhel to hand the Athletics their eighth straight defeat, 5-6. Detroit and the Boston Red Sox were rained out while the Phillies and Boston Bees had an open date.

Cubs' Sixth Straight Loss
Al Todd and Paul Waner paced the 17-hit Pirate attack that gave the Cubs their sixth straight setback.

The Giants didn't exactly throw away their game, but four errors were an important factor in Brooklyn's eight-run first inning. Lou Gehrig and Joe DiMaggio contributed homers, the 14th for each, to the Yankee twin victory, and Red Ruffing batted in three runs with a pair of doubles in the opener to help win his 12th game.

The Indians played one of their regular "staggering" games. They rallied twice to take the lead, then went down when Bill Zuber and John Humphries loaded the sacks in the ninth and Sam West's fly scored Ossie Bluege from third.

J. Roy Stockton's National League piece in this week's Statestap is a four beller. . . . Odds on Broadway are 2½ to 1 that Armstrong beats Ambers, and if you like the short end, climb aboard. . . . Charles (Doc) Hartwig, star Pitt guard in 1936, has caught on with Mounts-ville (W. Va.) high as head coach.

Mrs. Ralph Guidahl thinks the flickers should give her handsome husband a break for winning the Open two years in a row. . . . Not that it matters, but we are making World Series reservations now—and in New York.

Alex (Suitcase) Kampouris attended 60 parties pitched by Greek admirals last season and emerged with 41 pieces of luggage. . . . Now that he's joined the Jints the parties are starting all over again.

It's a lead pinch Alex ain't going to team up with another Greek and open a restaurant—not with all those grips in the storage foundry.

LEGION'S MOUND ACE FLINGS ONE-HIT BALL

The American Legion nine, with McGeehan turning in a one-hit performance, stopped the Columbian Squires, 6-1, in a City League exhibition diamond encounter at Patterson stadium Tuesday.

In addition to keeping the Squire bats virtually silent, McGeehan fanned 13 batters.

The Legions, meantime, collected nine hits, including a triple by E. Olmstead and a double by Davis, off G. Mase.

BABE RUTH SIGNED FOR EXHIBITION PURPOSES, NOT AS FUTURE MANAGER

That's Best Information Now Since Brooklyn Owner's Started Combing Minor Circuits For Talent

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 13.—The best information now is that Babe Ruth, for all the excitement occasioned by his recent signing as a Brooklyn coach, is no nearer to realizing his ambition to become a big league manager than before Larry MacPhail pulled him out of retirement.

The old homer king's admirers felt certain for a time that their hero would succeed Burleigh Grimes at the Dodger helm in due time, but they are having their doubts now.

It seems that MacPhail, the showman, simply paid $15,000 for the privilege of exhibiting the great Bambino the remainder of the season, in the same spirit that P. T. Barnum once intrigued the public with the "Missing Link." The Babe missed out somewhere.

MacPhail, after first maintaining mysterious silence as to his plans for Ruth, has let it be known lately that he is satisfied with Grimes as manager and intends to sign him for 1939, no matter where the Dodgers wind up in the current campaign.

He has emphasized this by rushing into the minor league market the last several days and buying some expensive talent. If his wish had been to discredit Grimes and set the stage properly for Ruth's grand entrance next season, MacPhail could have waited until the winter to make such extensive repairs.

The Babe has got a bang out of coming back to the game, however briefly, and has made himself popular with the young Brooklyn players. He has drained off more than 10 pounds and is down to a trim 235.

The Babe has demonstrated that he still can wallop the ball, but admits his legs are gone.

There are conflicting opinions on the Babe's value as a base coach, but he still is a remarkable drawing card. He packed the parks at Syracuse and Elmira, and MacPhail is busy now arranging five or six more exhibition games.

Vitt Lashes Tribe; Says It's Worst Team On Defense He's Ever Seen

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Oscar Vitt, irked about the 9-8 defeat by Washington which left Cleveland with only a half-game margin over New York, characterized the Indians today as the worst defensive team he has seen.

"Of the 26 games we've lost we've beaten ourselves out of 13," declared the Tribe manager. "I realize that the best of them kick away from game now and then, but the winners don't kick them away at the rate we've been following."

"I've been in baseball for nearly 30 years and I've never seen as bad a defensive team as this one—either in the major or the minors."

Vitt declared that Moose Solters, in a hitting slump all season, would be benched for the remainder of the campaign after constant flailing miscues, and named Bob Feller to try to stop the Senators today.

Opening a crucial eastern invasion yesterday with a two-game margin over the New York Yankees, Cleveland contributed four runs to Washington by bad fielding and three more by bases on balls.

The defeat, coupled with New York's twin victory over St. Louis, put the Tribe in the difficult position of attempting to keep ahead on enemy battleground.

The Tribe used Galehouse, Whitehill, Zuber and Humphries on the mound against the Senators.

Bill Bossen and Charles Starkey got off to flying starts in the round-robin tournament now under way at Highland View Golf club.

On the opening matches Bossen defeated Harry Oyster, carding a 40-2-38 to Oyster's 42-3-39, and Starkey tripped Neil Canavan with a 45-6-39. Canavan turned in a 49-6-43.

The tournament open to club members will continue through the remainder of July and August.

ONLY EYELIDS SUNBURNED

CLEVELAND — Drug-store proprietor Harry Rubin likes to use himself as a guinea pig, try new nostrums before he sells them to customers. So, with that thought in mind, he smeared one brand of sunburn lotion on his right cheek, another on his left and a third on his chin and neck. Then he put on dark glasses—and fell asleep. A prankster remover the glasses. Rubin got sunburned eyelids.

NEWELL RAYS DOWN CHANEY OUTFIT, 7-5

The Newell Rays scored their second triumph in the second-half race of the Grant District Softball league Tuesday, downing the Chaney outfit, 7-5, while the other two leaders, Chester I. G. A. and Huffman's Coals, were engaging in a deadlock.

A five-run rally in the ninth by the Coals enabled them to knot the count with I. G. A. at 9-9 and thus hold on to their undefeated status.

Pippen's Tavern scored its first triumph, upsetting McDaniels' Grill, 5-3, with Sayre allowing the Grills a just three hits.

Flinger Fitch of the Brindley's Tavern turned in a no-hit, no-run performance Tuesday in stopping the Young Republicans, 5-0, and giving his team mates undisputed possession of third place in the East Liverpool City Softball league.

Fleetwing Gas chalked up its eighth triumph in nine games trampling the Knights of Columbus outfit under a 20-2 count, continuing to make the second-half race a walkaway affair.

Fitch struck out eight of the Young Republicans as he fired his

WELLSVILLE RING PROGRAM TONIGHT BENEFIT FOR BAND

EIGHT topnotch boxing bouts, headed by a return meeting of Tad Dilettro, Wellsville's Ohio American Legion welterweight champion, and Marty Maurer of Shadyside, holder of the same title in West Virginia, are on the program sponsored by the Wellsville Athletic club in the down-river stadium tonight.

The show, which will start at 8:30 under the floodlights, will be for the benefit of the Wellsville High school band, proceeds being diverted to its use for the purchase of uniforms.

The semi-final battle pits Mike Ruffa of Newell, stamplate of Dilettro and holder of the Hawaiian Islands featherweight title, against K. O. Kelly, stamplate of Maurer, who has 15 consecutive knockout triumphs in his ledger.

Six other preliminary bouts are listed. Bob McShane of East Liverpool will battle Bert Sharp of Weirton. Al Peterson of Steubenville will oppose Vince Foreman of East Liverpool and Tony Facutti of Steubenville will meet Billy Hutchinson, another local puncher, while the remaining three bouts each will feature well-matched district favorites.

YAROSZ AND FOUTTS AT ODDS; FIGHT GOES

Special To The Review.

PITTSBURGH, July 13.—Teddy Yarosz, Monaca's former middleweight champion, Tuesday night again signed a contract to meet Billy Conn, East Liberty puncher, in a 12-round bout at Forbes field July 25.

A previous agreement was refused the sanction of the boxing commission, Chairman W. D. McClelland holding up the fight until he was assured Ray Foutts of East Liverpool, suspended in the state would have nothing to do with the proceedings.

Tuesday's match received instant approval because of an announcement earlier in the day that Yarosz and Foutts had come to the parting of the ways. This is said to have been occasioned by a disagreement over terms of the first contract, under which Teddy was to have received 25 percent of the gate after the first $4,000 had been deducted.

The second contract will give Yarosz 20 percent of the gate. Conn is to get a straight $3,000 guarantee. Yarosz filed an affidavit confirming Foutts' announcement they had split. Foutts, meantime, applied for a new license, the first step toward reinstatement with the commission.

Negley Here Today; Eagles Battle Off

Negley's baseball outfit will appear at Columbian park today to help Guy Dugman's Riverview Florists inaugurate the second-half competition of the Columbiana County Baseball league. Barring rain the game is slated for 5:30.

The Eagles, scheduled to open at East Palestine, will not play until Thursday. Manager Mickey Flynn of the up-county nine last night asked for a postponement of one day because of public function at East Palestine today.

Other games slated today take Newell's Homer Laughlins to Wellsville and Salem to Lisbon. Lisbon won the first-half championship, downing the Riverview Florists Sunday 3-1 in an encounter at Columbian park which drew 3,000 fans. Because of a tie which existed between the two teams and two deadlocked encounters, the second-half opening was postponed two weeks.

SPURIOUS CHECK SUSPECT NABBED IN BINGHAMTON

Man Arrested in New York Identified As One Who Operated in City

A person identified as the man who in June took $51 in cash from local merchants by issuing bogus checks has been taken into custody in Binghamton, N. Y., on a similar charge. Police Chief Hugh J. McDermott learned today.

Local authorities will place a detainer with Binghamton authorities to hold the subject for charges made here.

Charles A. Wheeler, superintendent of police in Bridgeport, Conn., wrote Mr. McDermott that James Garcia, alias Joseph LaRocca, admitted to Binghamton police, after apprehension there on a bogus check charge, having operated in East Liverpool.

Mr. Wheeler last month notified Mr. McDermott that a man who had identified himself as "James Marvin of 931 Dresden ave., East Liverpool, Ohio," walked out of a Bridgeport jewelry store with $75 in diamond rings and $75 in cash in exchange for a bogus "Jergen's Lotions, Cincinnati, Ohio" check. In East Liverpool "Louis Antrim" passed $50 "Proctor and Gamble, Cincinnati, Ohio" "phoneys" at the J. C. Penney Co., and Moore Furniture Co., stores in exchange for approximately $19 in merchandise. He used a driver's operator license for identification. The culprit failed to plant a similar check for $100 at the Leon Rubin jewelry store where when he was asked for more positive identification before receiving the $25 ring and $75 cash he had requested.

The description by merchants here of a man dark-complected, weighing about 150 pounds and medium height, hairless and wearing a white polo shirt and brown trousers tallied with descriptions furnished elsewhere.

UNION CALLS STRIKE AT OHIO SHOE PLANT

200 CIO Pickets Surround Portsmouth Company

By The Associated Press. PORTSMOUTH, O., July 13.—Two hundred pickets surrounded the downtown plant of the Selby Shoe Co. today following a strike call by the United Shoe Makers union (CIO).

While police stood guard, a few workers entered the huge plant when the 7 a. m. shift started, but there was no disturbance. A heavy fog shrouded hundreds of spectators who gathered at the scene in the early morning hours.

The union is demanding a closed shop and restoration of a 10 percent pay cut effected last May. The cut represented discontinuance of an increase which was granted the workers in 1937.

Company officials said following the Tuesday strike vote that a rumor was circulated "to the effect that if a majority voted for the strike, the 10 percent pay cut would be restored immediately and there would be no strike."

"This rumor was, of course, without foundation. The majority of the season's business already has been sold based on present prices and it is not possible to restore the 10 percent regardless of whether there is a strike."

George Duemler of St. Louis, union organizer, said the company "provoked the rank and file of workers to take action." He indicated there might be a lengthy strike unless "the company backs down from its arbitrary stand."

LEADING STOCKS IN SHARP CLIMB

List Prices Near Tops For Summer Advance Period

By The Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 13.—The summer upswing in stocks pushed forward anew today in one of the busiest markets since heavy speculation for the rise started less than a month ago.

Prices on the average were about at the tops for the movement near the fourth hour, although trading quieted. Gains generally ran from fractions to three points.

As on previous waves of the abrupt mid-year advance, the buying tide swept commodities and bonds up on a wide front, including such key industrial raw materials as rubber and hides. Grains and cotton, however, were inclined to mark time.

Notable among the gainers were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Crucible, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Continental Oil, Eastman Kodak, Allied Chemical, Montgomery Ward, Texas Corp., Standard Oil of N. J., Johns Manville and American Smelting. General Motors was turned over in substantial blocks as it ploughed through 40 to make a new peak for the year.

Many traders continued to take the action of the market itself as the most eloquent indication trends were moving forward on a recent reversal of the 1937-38 recession.

Centering attention on prospects for industrial expansion were reports of a further gain in steel operations in the Pittsburgh area and another boost of 50 cents a ton in steel scrap, making a rise of $1 in two days.

Wage and production prospects in the steel industry were studied intently in financial circles for the potential important bearing of autumn business trends.

Iron Age said it was doubted whether any formal step for a revision of steel wages would be taken before the conference called by the federal government for July 25 on minimum pay rates for steel workers.

Meanwhile, the trade publication noted, studies indicate recent price cutting and modification of the basing point system by steel makers may cause "heavy losses in the third quarter with or without a wage cut." But "sentiment and prospects are improved," the magazine added.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 13.—Wheat prices underwent fractional declines today after an irregular start. Indications that for the time being corn price bulges had about exhausted themselves served as a bearish influence on wheat.

Opening 1/4 cent off to 1/4 up, July 73 1/2, September 74 1/2-75. Chicago wheat futures then sagged. Corn started unchanged to 1/4 higher, July 60 1/4, September 62 1/4, and afterward reacted somewhat.

committee and with Gov. Richard Kirtman.

Mr. Roosevelt will make a platform appearance at Reno, Nev. No appearances were scheduled in Utah because of the early morning hours. Stops for railroad purposes were listed at Montello, Carlin, Imlay and Sparks, Nev., and at Truckee, Calif.

The Truckee, Calif., stop will be the President's first on this trip in the home territory of Sen. William G. McAdoo, a down-the-line administration supporter. McAdoo is opposed by Sheridan Downey, a follower of Dr. Francis E. Townsend, old age pension advocate.

McAdoo already the recipient of a friendly letter from Mr. Roosevelt starting "Dear Mac," is expected to receive another presidential pat on the back when the President speaks at the San Francisco exposition grounds tomorrow.

The President spent yesterday enjoying the scenic beauty of the Colorado Rockies, conferring with Colorado Democrats and resting up from his speech making of previous days.

tiny courtroom in the hope of finding out the name of the mysterious "London society gentleman."

Countess Stays At Mansion Testimony was given last week that the countess had offered the count $250,000 and he demanded $50,000 and custody of their two-year-old son Lance in return for divorce.

Countess Barbara, who sat through last week's spiky hearing, stayed at well-guarded Winfield mansion today with the son, whom she has made a ward in chancery to keep him out of the count's hands.

The settlement today deprived the count of an opportunity of defending himself personally against the charge, but his counsel asserted he had no intention of threatening the safety of his wife or doing her bodily harm.

LISBON FARMER TAKES OWN LIFE

Son Finds Body Of C. C. Pike Suspended From Tree

Special To The Review. LISBON, July 13.—Charles C. Pike, 50, prominent Columbiana county farmer and dairyman, was found dead at about 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, hanging by a rope from a tree on his farm just north of Lisbon.

The body was found by his son Robert, 16, and another youth, Ralph Lewton, who went in search of him after he failed to put in his customary appearance at milking time.

Coroner Arnold C. Devan, after an investigation, today returned a verdict of suicide. Mr. Pike had been in ill health for some time and worried about a stomach ailment but none of his family or friends had noticed any morbid tendencies.

Last Seen By Neighbor

He was last seen working in the garden about 4 p. m. by Mrs. Will Burton, a neighbor. His wife had left the home at about 3:30, going to Lisbon. She did not see him on her return and did not become alarmed when he failed to appear for supper as she presumed he had gone somewhere to purchase a cow transaction he had been contemplating.

However, when he did not come at milking time, the son and his friend set out in search. The tree on which he was found is about a quarter of a mile from the barn, adjacent to the home.

His widow, Mrs. Kathryn Lewis Pike, a bride of less than four months, she and the deceased were married March 23, about a year following the death of his first wife, Mrs. Etta Mae Adams Pike.

Formerly in Business With Father Mr. Pike was born in Lisbon July 11, 1888, the son of L. B. and Emma Walters Pike, having celebrated his 50th birthday Monday.

He has been engaged in the farm and dairy business for 17 years, having been associated with his father, still living, in his garage in Lisbon prior to that time.

He was a member of the Lisbon Methodist Episcopal church. In addition to his wife and father, Mr. Pike is survived by two daughters, Mrs. James Reisel of Columbus and Mrs. Allen Webber of Lisbon; two sons, Charles Pike, a student at Ohio State University, and Robert, at home; two brothers, George W. Pike of Akron and David Pike of San Francisco; a sister, Mrs. Frank Grant of East Liverpool, and two grandchildren.

The body will be removed to the home from the Eells funeral parlor, where it was taken following the investigation, this afternoon.

Private funeral services will be conducted Friday at 1:30 p. m. by Rev. C. W. Kennedy, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church. Burial will be in Lisbon cemetery.

KIRK

court and in January of this year a ruling was handed down affirming the district court's stand. A short time later, Kirk reassumed the office.

The next move in the fight occurred on March 9 when the board of county commissioners declared that Kirk had served his four-year constitutional limit in the office and declared it vacant. Wheatley was then appointed to the place.

Kirk, however, refused to give up the job, saying he would "fight." Wheatley Candidate Again

Attorneys for the deposed engineer then filed quo warranto proceedings in the state supreme court asking that Kirk be compelled to surrender the office on the grounds that he had been removed by the county commissioners.

Kirk's attorneys filed a demurrer opposing the action, which the court sustained.

Wheatley will be a candidate for the office at the November election, having no opposition for the Democratic nomination at the August 9 primary. C. O. Snyder of Lisbon and John C. Hassler, formerly of East Liverpool, are candidates for the Republican nomination.

Another fight on the eligibility of the winner in the November election to hold the office looms as some observers believe there will be no vacancy until the conclusion of the present four-year term in December 1940. If this is true, Kirk could hold the office for two years more.

Court Orders Unlimited

Tire Guarantee Suspended

By The Associated Press. COLUMBUS, O., July 13.—The Ohio supreme court ordered the Western Auto Supply Co. today to discontinue its unlimited guarantee on tires, holding that it was in effect insurance.

Since the company was not licensed to engage in the insurance business, the court granted a writ of ouster applicable to its guarantee practices.

The state alleged that the company guaranteed its tires against "defects in material or workmanship without limit as to time, mileage or service (and) for a stipulated period against any condition which shall render the tire x x x unfit for further service."

William J. Kennedy, Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy and State Treasurer Clarence H. Knisley, all Democrats.

David J. Lewis of New Lexington, among five candidates for the Republican state treasurer nomination, was one of four Republicans to receive the league's approval.

Others Get Support

Others were Congressman Thomas A. Jenkins of Ironton, Charles H. Elston of Newton, nomination in the first district and Fred Marvin of Barberton in the 14th.

William L. Fiesinger, Sandusky Democrat, received the endorsement in the 13th district over White. Fiesinger formerly was a member of congress.

No endorsement was made for the fourth congressional district, the only one in which an incumbent is not a candidate.

The league urged the nomination of former Congressman Stephen M. Young of Cleveland over Portsmouth over Polk, of Raymond Sheahan of Toledo over Hunter, and of Henry Worley, former mayor of Columbus, over Lamneck, a bitter new deal foe.

None of the candidates of either party for lieutenant governor was acceptable to the league and no endorsement was made.

Owens, who declared that the league was dedicated to institute good government, said that the voters could either approve a continuation of President Roosevelt's new deal policies or "return to the dark days of disaster and starvation."

"Mr. Sawyer is a supporter of the Roosevelt administration who has pledged himself to end x x x abuses of public office and to enable labor to freely exercise the legal right of collective bargaining."

Other congressmen endorsed were: Dixon, Bigelow, Harlan, Kniffen, Alshre, Fletcher, Claypool, Harter, Secrest, Thom, Ashbrook, Imhoff, Kirwan, Sweeney, Crosser and Fieger.

600,000 in privately-owned treasury securities last year.

Roosevelt Cites Delay In Gains National defense—to increase $76,000,000 from last year to a record peacetime total of $1,050,000,000.

Interest on debt—to increase $50,000,000 to a record total of $76,000,000.

The President, commenting briefly on the figures, said his estimates last January were based on a belief that business would improve sooner than is now in prospect. He added:

"Business conditions not only did not improve, but gradually grew worse. This made it necessary to request additional appropriations to provide work relief for the unemployed and to lay out a program of federal public works which would not only aid the unemployed but would at the same time provide a needed stimulus to business."

"The business recession will likewise affect our revenues for the fiscal year 1939 and they will be materially lower and our expenditures much greater than were expected seven months ago."

CONTRACTORS AT TAIN POINT IN DUFFY RULING

By The Associated Press. COLUMBUS, O., July 13.—The state highway department pondered today the opinion of Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy that contractors could not be denied state highway contracts merely because they were suspected of collusion or fraud in the past.

Duffy informed Highway Director John P. Jaster Jr. by letter that the law required the director to award contracts of the "lowest competent and responsible bidder qualified to bid" and that he knew of no provision "to render a contractor who has been guilty of fraud in the past either incompetent or irresponsible."

Common Pleas Judge Henry Scarlett recently enjoined payment of state funds to several contractors accused in the taxpayer's suit of Mrs. Agnes B. Dickinson, Columbus attorney, of conspiring to defraud the state through collusive bidding on highway projects.

BRITISH AIR RAID QUIZ PLAN FAILS

Study Of Civilian Bombings In Spain 'Impossible'

By The Associated Press. LONDON, July 13.—The government announced today that its efforts to form an international commission to investigate air bombings of civilian centers in Spain had failed.

Prime Minister Chamberlain told the house of commons that the scheme, in which the United States, France, Norway, Sweden and later the Netherlands had agreed to join, had been found "impossible."

Instead, he said, Britain would send a British mission of two men to Spain.

(The United States declined Britain's invitation and Sweden followed suit.)

The Spanish civil war and the Chinese-Japanese conflict brought new bombardments of Barcelona and Canton today while Britain rushed additional troops to the troubled Holy Land and France gave Germany an indirect warning to keep hands off Czechoslovakia.

France's warning came in the form of a declaration by Premier Edouard Daladier that he hoped France would never have to fulfill her pledge to protect Czechoslovakia but was determined never to go back on her word if such hopes proved vain.

He made his statement as France opened a campaign for a huge unimpaired arms loan and published in the official journal a law detailing general organization for the nation in time of war.

A squadron of armored cars from the 11th Hussars rumbled into Palestine from Egypt as British authorities met at Haifa to consider placing the country under martial law to halt the conflict between Arabs and Jews.

A British officer was reported wounded as a German prisoner killed in a midnight engagement on the plain of Esdrachon.

In Spain, insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco was reported to have taken personal command of a unified army of 200,000 for a concerted drive against Valencia from three directions. The government was said to have massed 250,000 men to oppose the offensive.

The insurgent raid on Barcelona was believed to be a reprisal for a government air attack on the insurgents' eastern lines yesterday.

The Japanese bombardment of Canton was the second in two days. Fifty-two were killed and probably 200 injured in yesterday's raids.
